"Throw a stone on the streets of New York and you'll likely hit an indie musician."

Malick: Riding Horses & Waves of NYC Music Scene

Gwenn doesn't really call herself a horse girl, more of an indie artist and horse influence-ee. Her music reflects her roots— Topanga Canyon's open landscapes and her fierce love for horses. She blends this gentleness with a striking emotional precision, as you'll hear in her latest single, "Arizona."

"Gwenn counteracts the demands of a crowded city and music scene with an endurance cultivated through a deep sense of vulnerability."

Gwenn, Bushwick-based indie artist, playing show Tuesday

This is her first headline show. Gwenn has recorded dozens of songs between living in New York, LA, and travelling in Arizona. Gwenn's song Underneath was in the short film Tiny Dancer (2025).
